The board of trustees of the county high school meets early next month to select a successor to J. W. Hurlinger, one of the instructors who has resigned. Among the applicants is John H. Mustard, a Dickinson county young man and eminently worthy for the place. Mr. Mustard graduated with high honors at the State University, and has made a name for himself in literary work while carrying on his studies. BOND EXEMPTION.

The Income Tax Will Not Touch Government Bonds.

HILL'S AMENDMENTS VOTED DOWN.

The Senate Bill Making Labor Day a Legal Holiday Passed in the House—Outlets of Privates in Pension Cases.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—In the senate yesterday Mr. Allen made another ineffectual attempt to secure action on his resolution directing the secretary of the treasury to inform the senate of the total number of persons engaged in protected industries whose wages might be affected by tariff legislation. Mr. Gallinger objected and Mr. Morrill moved to refer it to the finance committee. Mr. Allen gave notice that as long as the resolution remained unacted upon he would object to all legislation by unanimous consent. Mr. Morrill's motion was defeated by a vote of 16 to 27.

Then the senate resumed the consideration of the income tax provisions of the tariff bill and Mr. Hill withdrew the amendment offered on Saturday to strike out the provision exempting interest on United States bonds from the operation of the tax. His object in offering the amendment, he said, was to call the attention of the country to the fact that the $305,000,000 of property in government bonds were necessarily exempt from the action of the income tax under the law. Although the ostensible purpose of the income tax was to reach the wealthy and equating taxation, there was an enormous investment in capital which the income tax could not reach. Mr. Hill then moved to exempt state, county and municipal bonds, arguing that the taxation of state bonds by the federal government would be a direct attack upon the administration of the states. If the federal government had the right to disunion the states, it had the right to destroy them. This was defeated—25 to 30.

Mr. Hill then modified his amendment so as to confine the exemption to state bonds. A long constitutional discussion of the powers and limitations of federal taxation followed. In which Mr. House, Morgan, Fugh, Lindsay, Caffery and Gray participated. Mr. Hill's amendment to exempt interest from state bonds was also lost, 37 to 30. Mr. Hill then moved to strike out the provision for a tax on personal property acquired by gift or inheritance. Lost, 25 to 34.

The proviso offered by Mr. Vest last week as an amendment to section 35, "That in computing the income of any person, corporation, company or association, there shall not be included the amount received from any corporation, etc., as interest dividends upon the bonds of stock of such corporation, etc., if the tax of 2 per cent has been paid upon its net profits by said corporation, as required by this act," was agreed to.

An amendment of Mr. Allen, to permit evidence in rebuttal before collectors of internal revenue as to the amount of incomes, was agreed to, as was the Vest amendment including in the calculation of the incomes of banks, banking institutions, trust companies, life, fire and other insurances, railroad, canal, telephone, telegraph and other companies, actual operating and business expenses, losses and interest on bonded and other indebtedness.

A committee amendment was adopted, providing the tax shall not apply to states, counties or municipalities; nor to corporations, companies or associations organized and conducted solely for charitable, religious or educational purposes; nor to religious or educational societies, orders or associations operating upon the edge system and providing for the payment of life, sick, accident and other benefits to the members of such societies, orders, and associations and dependents of such members; nor to stocks, shares, bonds or securities held by any citizens or corporations for charitable, religious or educational purposes; nor to the loans made by building and loan associations to their shareholders for the purpose of enabling them to provide for themselves homes; nor to certain savings banks and savings institutions.

Mr. Allison moved to add to section 35 the words "And nothing herein shall apply to any corporation, company or association having a paid-up capital of less than $100,000." Without acting upon the amendment the senate at 6:30 went into executive session and five minutes later adjourned.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Another legal holiday has been added to the list, as on motion of Mr. McPherson the senate bill making Labor day a national holiday yesterday passed.

The house bill to give the same weight and effect to the oaths of private and non-commissioned officers in pension cases as is given to the oaths of commissioned officers passed.

The house went into committee of the whole on the deficiency bill.

An amendment was adopted appropriating $2,000 to pay Hon. W. B. English for his successful contest for the seat in the present congress held by Samuel G. Hillborn, from the Third California district, his name having been inadvertently omitted from the list of contestants and contestant whose expenses were paid.
